REGULAR CARE IS A PREREQUISITE FOR HEALTHY SKIN

Uniderma offers solutions for gentle, but thorough treatment of fragile aging skin, to prevent or relieve irritation caused by incontinence or other factors.

Hygiene is an essential part of caring for sick or weak people. Incontinent people suffer from an increased risk of irritation or damage – that is why we have developed professional medical cosmetics. The products of our company include Czech nursing cosmetics, i.e. products like a moisturizer for your hands and nails, cooling balm, nursing cream and zinc cream for diaper rash treatment, nourishing panthenol or body lotion and cream bath. Furthermore, cleansing foam that fully replaces soap and water, gently cleanses sensitive skin in the affected areas and thus helps with cleaning when changing incontinence pads and with odour control.

Our products help restore the natural balance of the skin, ultimately protect the dignity of treated patients and save time for caregivers.

Uniderma cosmetics are among the best Czech products for the care of stressed and sensitive skin. So far, they have been exclusively dedicated to university and regional hospitals, health care facilities and seniors' homes. Now, we offer it to you directly.

Our company follows the latest trends in the production and development of nursing cosmetics and responds to the needs of our customers. All products are free of parabens and fragrances and are dermatologically tested in the Czech Republic.

With our unique cosmetics series, you improve your skin care to the professional level.
Why does UNIDERMA cosmetics contain no parabens?

Parabens are a group of chemicals widely used as preservatives in cosmetics and pharmaceutical industries.

Parabens and their salts are used primarily for their bactericidal and fungicidal properties, in shampoos, toothpastes, cosmetic creams, lubricants, sunscreens etc. The most commonly used substances in this group are: methylparaben (E218), ethylparaben (E214), propylparaben (E126) and butylparaben.

Parabens can cause allergies and studies have demonstrated their estrogenic activity.

Cosmetics UNIDERMA is designed to treat all types of skin. We especially focus on dry sensitive skin, mature skin and skin with congenital or acquired damage.
